

I am filing a complaint against ARCH WIRELESS. This company continues to bill me for a pager that was returned to them over six months ago. I do not have their equipment. I do not owe them money. I have talked with several of their customer reps who have told me that the equipment is at their warehouse in Plano, TX but that they are behind on paperwork. That is ridiculous. No reputable company would ever be that far behind in paperwork. Now I have received a notice from CollectechSystems where my account has been sent for collection. I do not have the pager, I do not owe Arch Wireless any money and if I have to have my attorney handle this matter, Arch will owe me.
